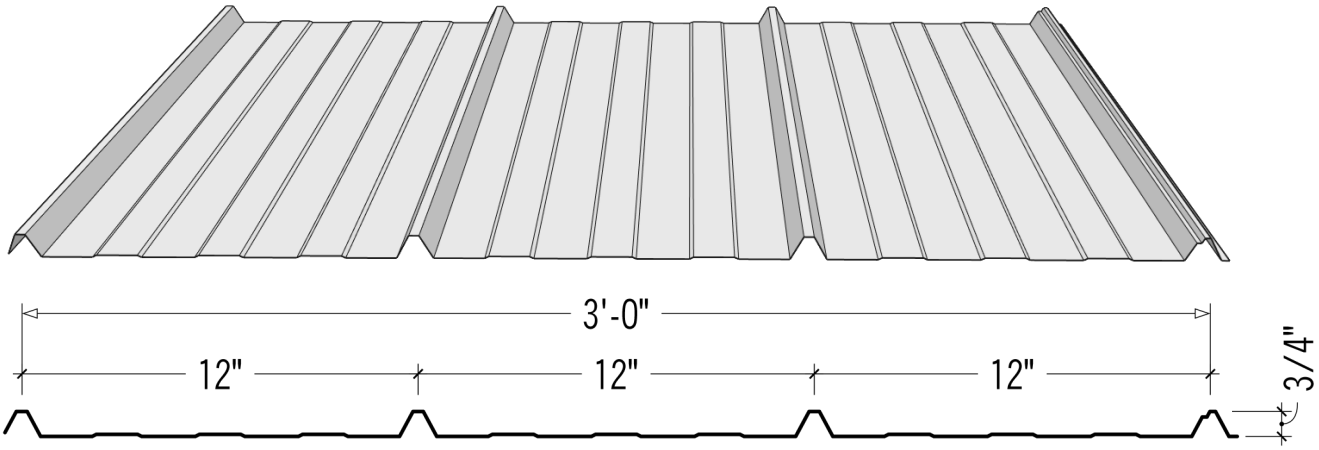
APEX
Metal Roof & Wall Panel



Apex panel combines the clean, modern appearance of a standing seam roof with the affordability and installation simplicity of an exposed-fastener metal panel. Its bold vertical ribs create crisp architectural lines that enhance residential, commercial, agricultural, and post-frame projects alike. Designed for roofing, siding, and interior liner applications, Apex delivers dependable performance with a sleek, contemporary profile. The panel can be installed over open purlin framing or solid sheathing, making it a versatile option for both new construction and renovation projects. Each panel is custom produced to the exact lengths required, with lengths available up to 40 feet, helping reduce waste, minimize field cutting, and streamline installation. A variety of colors and finish options are available, along with color-matched trim and fasteners for a clean, refined appearance built to last.
